it Has Plunged Her Family Into Unspeakable Grief.

Anxious Watching by the Sick One's Bed at Fremont.

The Patient's Condition Serious, but Her Recovery Possible,

FREMONT, O. June 22. - This morning found the family of Mrs. R. B. Hayes, wife of ex-President Hayes, all trgether at the mansion here, anxiously watching by the bedside of the stricken wife and mother.

MRS. R. B. HAYES. husband and her children have always been of the warmest nature, and the sudden and dangerous illness which has come so suddenly upon her has filled the family with unspeakable sorrow.

The shock by which Mrs. Haves is prostrated was of an apoplectic nature, inducing paralysis of the right side.

It was preceded by some premonitory symptoms, including a numbness in the right arm.

Although the patient's condition is undoubtedly serious, there is yet chance for her recovery, and on this chance her family founds its loving hopes.

Mrs. Hayes was sitting in her room, engaged upon some sewing, when the sickness came upon her. Something peculiar in her attitude attracted the attention of one of her sewing women who sat near her, and as she made no response to the woman's anxious inquiry, sid was at once summoned and her condition was then ascertained.

Telegrams to Columbus, Cleveland and Toledo then quickly summoned Mr. Haves and his sons, Birchard and Webb. The other sons were already in Fremont.

Mrs. Lucy Webb Hayes was born at Chilicothe, O., about fifty-six years ago, the daughter of Dr. James Webb. e was married to Mr. Hayes Dec. 30, 1852. Eight children have resulted from the marriage, of whom four sons and a daughter are living. Mrs. Hayes exhibited much devotion and

Mrs. Hayes exhibited much devotion and patriotism in attending wounded soldiers during the war, and has always manifested a strong sympathy with the work of reformatory and philanthropic organizations.

Her temperance principles led to the banishment of wine from the White House at Washington during her husband's administration, an innovation which attracted much and varied attention and comment during the four years.

Later.—At 1.30 p. m., to-day, Mrs. Hayes was resting quietly, but there was thought to be less hope for her recovery.

Mr. Merrissey's Company Sings "Faust' at the Grand Opera-House..." A Mid-night Bell," "The Brigands," "The Ocinh," "Monte Cristo, Jr.," and Other Favorites - "Fentherbrain's" Last Week at the Madison Square.

"Fauet" will be presented at the Grand Opera in English next Monday, and it is not often that an opportunity of hearing Gounod's famous opera at popular prices can be had. Mme. Paurine L'Alemand will ing the role of Marguerite: Miss Athalie Claire that of Sivel; Frank Baxter will be Faust; Sig. Tagliapretria, Valentine; Mr. Maina, Mephistopheles; D. Mascotti, Wagner, and Miss Helen Brand, Martha. In the garden scene natural flowers will be used. There will be a largely increased orchestra and " Faust " ought to prove a big drawing chorus.

There will be a largely increased orchestra and chorus. 'Faust 'ought to prove a big drawing card. Mr. Morrissey's enterprise in presenting the opera is highly commendable. It will be sung for one week only. 'The Chimes of Normandy,' with Nina Bertini as Saypoietti, and Athalie Claire as Germaine, will be sung for the last time fo-night.

The Swinten Lok Royal Chinese Theatrical Company of fifty members will be the attraction at Frank Murtha's Windsor Theatre next week. Ther will open in two plays, one of which is called 'Hi Lou Tan Moo;' or, 'The Royal Slave and Fillas Love,' Tak Wing is the leading man. Twenty-four Chinese plays will be presented during the company's two weeks' engagement at the Windsor, with very claborate scenic effects. The Chinese colony has visited the box office and shown very substantially that it intends to patronize this catertainment.

At H. K. Jacoba Third Avenue Theatre John A. Stevens, an old cast side favorite, will make his reappearance for the first time in five years next week. He will present his drama. 'Unding James F. Brian, Davenport Bebus, M. J. Gallagher, Charles Barringer, George McEntire, Miss Jossis Butler, Miss Beatrice Ingram, Miss Dora Vinton and others.

"A Midnight Bell" begins the seventieth and last week of its engagement at the Bilou Theatre Monday night. The Bilou is now lighted throughout with electricity, and is quite cool. Business Marager J. T. Maguire will have his annual benefit on Wednesday evening, when an attractive programme will be presented. Mr. Maguire is a member of Palestine Commandery, of Mecca Shrine, of the Order of Elis and of the Hoboken Turtle Club. The members of these organizations are taking an active interest in his benefit. English soubrette, and Laura Lee, the balladist. The usual concert will be given to-morrow evening.

Lewis Dockstader will produce a new burlesque by Frank Dumont at Proctor's Twenty-third street Theatre next week. It will be entitled 'Steat the Alarm,' with Dockstader, Moreland, Schoolcraft, Maxwell, Marion, Mills, and the entire company in the cast. A. C. Moreland, by-the-bye, will make his reaprearance with Dockstader on Monday night. Dockstader says that in 'Steat the Alarm' he will introduce trained fire horses, hitched to the engine in a second, a grand fire secane scene and window-breaking tableau, a great steam engine and educated white horses driving to the fire at lightning speed. There will be an entire change of bill. During the past week Dockstader's entertainment has been largely patronized.

The fiftieth performance of 'The Oolah' will take place at the Broadway Theatre June 29, but the event will not be celebrated until July 1, when the expected souvenirs will be presented. 'The Oolah' will probably run until October. There may be a suspension of performances for two or three weeks during the very hot weather, as permitted in Mr. Wilson's contract with Manager Frank Sanger. Disagreement Ends the Remarkable Divorce Case.

The Jury Discharged and a New Trial Ordered in October.

The jury in the trial of the suit of Charles S. Fitch again t his wife, Maude P. Fitch, for absolute divorce, were instructed by Justice Parcett to seal their findings.

Mrs. F.tch was not in court when the envelope was opened this morning, but Fitch and Daniel Dougherty and Col. Ingersoil, the counsel for both sides, were present.

The jury retired at 3.45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and at 5 o'clock Judge Barrett instructed the Court officers to keep the jury locked up until 11, 30. At 11, 30 they mood as they had all through innumerable ballotings, ten of the jurors believing the wife guiltless and two being just as fimly convinced of her perfidy.

The jury were dismissed, and Justice Barrett set the case down for a retrial the first

Col. Ingersoil remarked on the finding: "I

Col. Ingersoil remarked on the finding: "I said yesterday in my a dress to the jury that I did not believe any sensible man could find against Mrs. Fitch, but that my talking was intended for that 'impossible' twelfth man, who might hang the jury on some piece of mere nonsense. It seems there were two of these 'impossible' men.

Doniel Dougherty, the intellectual giant and silvery-tongued orator, pitted against Col. Ingersell, made a wonderful speech in closing the case for the husband. The contest of oratory was distended to breathlessly by an immense audien e, and tears were plentiful during both harangues.

Justice Farrett, cool, calm. clean cut in expression, delivered but a brief charge. He instructed the jury to find in favor of Mrs. Fitch on all but one of the charges.

As to that which had been testified to directly by several witnesses, and absolutely denied by Walter B. Peet and Mrs. Fitch, he said: "The jury must decide that some one had committed perjury." If you dee de that the charge is university of the charge is university." If you dee de that the charge is university in the said of the charge is university.

said: "The jury must decide that some one had committed perjury.
"If you decide that the charge is untrue you involve Campbell, Flanagan and others in perjury, persecution and infamy.
"But perjury on the part of the defendant would leave still open the question of her guilt on this charge, for the acts charged, if all proven, might all be explained innocently and without any stigma upon Mrs. Fitch."
